Friday: March 4, 2022
8:00 AM-12:00 PM ASTOR II	Board Senior International Officer Breakfast & Meeting- Invitation Only
1:30 PM-3:00 PM GRAND BALLROOM A/B	Faculty Forum I: The Faculty Forum @CCID is a mainstay of CCID's annual conference and an opportunity to share the good news of internationalization on your campus and return with renewed energy. Designed specifically for faculty, the Forum is about building community: through curated round table discussions, we share stories, learn about creative initiatives, and network with colleagues from all over the world.
1:30 PM-3:00 PM ASTOR II	Pre-Conference Workshop (registration required): A Future-Ready Workforce: Preparing Students for Work in a Global Economy Internationalization of course content can help community colleges meet goals of diversity, equity and inclusion while simultaneously training highly skilled, employees ready to work in a global environment. This session, appropriate for community college technical faculty as well as administrators, will provide an overview of how to align the learning goals of technical programs and international workforce needs and how to start integrating global content into what is already being taught in courses. Internationalization begins with understanding your students' diverse experiences and this interactive workshop will also introduce the Global Social Justice Framework for educators and provide tools to integrate student experience and learning into classes. Bring a syllabus that you would like to internationalize with you. Facilitator: Heather Singmaster, Director, Career & Technical Education, Asia Society for Global Education
1:30 PM-5:00 PM TOULOUSE	Pre-Conference Workshop (registration required): Education for a Deep Culture Experience—A Cognitive Process Approach This workshop introduces a deep learning approach to intercultural education pedagogy. It is informed by research in cultural psychology that is revolutionizing our understanding of cultural learning. We are learning the many ways that “culture” is an embodied phenomenon that shapes cognition, emotion and identity at deep levels of the self. We will discuss the Developmental Model of Linguaculture Learning (DMLL), a learning model grounded in these insights. There will be learning activities and discussion of ways to apply the DMLL. Facilitator: Dr. Joseph Shaules
3:30 PM-5:00 PM GRAND BALLROOM A/B	Faculty Forum II: The Faculty Forum @CCID is a mainstay of CCID's annual conference and an opportunity to share the good news of internationalization on your campus and return with renewed energy. Designed specifically for faculty, the Forum is about building community: through curated round table discussions, we share stories, learn about creative initiatives, and network with colleagues from all over the world.
3:30 PM-5:00 PM ASTOR II	Pre-Conference Workshop (registration required): How to successfully manage a small study abroad office at a Community College Join study abroad experts to learn how to effectively organize a small office with limited resources and integrate faculty perspectives into a study abroad office. Participants will take away perspectives and examples of successful study abroad advising at a community college Facilitators: Amparo Coddington, Study Abroad Advisor, Bergen Community College and Janice Thomas, Director for International Education, Brookdale Community College
5:00 PM-7:00 PM GRAND BALLROOM C/D	Opening Reception Opening remarks by Consul General Robert Hull, Consulate General of Ireland. Light hors d'oeuvres/ cash bar.
8:00 PM- 10:00 PM KERRY PUB	Join CCID & ISIA at Kerry Pub for Irish Music Night Following the reception, all conference attendees are invited to join CCID's longtime partners, Institute of Study Abroad Ireland (ISIA), at Kerry Pub, 331 Decatur Street, for Irish Music and Fun! We thank ISIA for hosting this CCID conference tradition.
