

Communications

The cities of Scottsbluff, Gering and Terrytown are home to a dynamic range of telecommunications providers. These companies include landline telephone carriers, cell phone carriers and several internet service providers offering cable, DSL and wireless broadband solutions.

Mass media communications services blanket the area. The Star-Herald is a local newspaper that is printed daily Tuesday – Sunday. The Inspire Today! is a monthly newspaper that is local owned and operated.

NBC Nebraska provides local news. Program streams are owned by Gray TV and are marketed at the downtown location in Scottsbluff.

Action Communications was founded in 1990. They are a locally-owned and operated business with three convenient locations in Scottsbluff, Gering and Cheyenne. Between the three locations they have an average work experience of 23 years in the industry. They are a full line Two-Way Radio dealer and serve private, commercial, public safety and government markets. Over the years, the Scottsbluff location has expanded into Wireless Internet, Satellite TV, Network Cabling, and much more. They have served our communities for nearly 3 decades.

ALLO Communications provides fiber optic internet, television and telephone service to Nebraskans across the state since 2002. They are the only provider in the area offering a dedicated fiber connection to households and businesses enabling greater speeds, clarity, security and reliability. The wide range of service options include: internet speeds ranging from 20 Mbps up to 1 Gigabit, customizable TV packages including a free streaming service, and free phone features including unlimited long distance, caller ID, call waiting and much more.

Mobius Communications provides telecom services. They provide Business Phones Systems, networking, security solutions, long distance, high-speed internet, cell phones and television services.

Vistabeam is a pioneering wireless service provider with coverage that spans 40,000 sq miles across three states and 100 towns. They installed their first customer in May of 2004. Before that their CEO set up one of the first dialup Internet providers in Wyobraska in 1997 and introduced wireless Internet access in 2000. Vistabeam's roots in the Midwest run long and deep. Providing great Internet service to the residents and businesses of the Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming area has always been our primary mission.

InterTECH has been serving Cable MSOs since 1997. Their clientele systems range in size from 100 cable subscribers to 50,000 cable subscribers. They serve more than 65 communities coast to coast; from Oregon to Florida; from Michigan to Oklahoma. Centrally located in Gering, Nebraska, InterTECH Corporation began as a small cable-operator-owned company providing a satellite-based Internet solution that was primarily designed to serve other small cable operators and enable them to get into the Internet Service business. It was built to be able to offer service to any size system, with a NOC designed to handle traffic, Web and mail service for a million cable modem subscribers.

Viaero Wireless provides high speed 4G LTE coverage in Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas, and Wyoming for more than 25 years, bringing you reliable wireless phone and internet service. They are committed to bringing you helpful and friendly customer service.