JACKSON COUNTY FAMILY CONNECTION:

Jackson County Family Connection is a collaborative organization that links businesses, agencies, and citizens together for the betterment of children and families in Jackson County.

Family Connection is the largest statewide network of communities in the United States. Each of the 159 counties in the state of Georgia are a part of the network and have made a commitment to improve results for families and children.

Jackson County Family Connection is a community based partnership of public and private leaders, agencies and organizations, businesses, local government, the faith community, families, and youth. The partnership provides an opportunity for organizations to work together to improve the lives of citizens in Jackson County through collaboration.

Jackson County Family Connection is not a service provider; rather, it is a formal process of collaboration, promoting results-focused planning and local decision making.

The collaborative has created a strategic annual operating plan to guide its efforts to improve conditions for Jackson County families. Embedded in this plan are goals to ensure that all children are healthy, start school ready to learn, succeed in school, and have strong, self-sufficient families.

Jackson County Family Connection is a private 501(c)3 organization run by a volunteer board of directors that employ an Executive Director.

COLLABORATIVE MEETINGS:

Please join us on the 4th Thursday of each month at 8:30am for our collaborative meetings. This is a round table meeting open to all to discuss the needs of our families and children. We attempt to fill the needs, prevent the duplication of services and to offer ways for you to help and volunteer. No commitment, just sharing of information. (3rd Thursday in November and no meeting in December). Currently meeting via ZOOM. Link on website: www.jcfamilyconnection.com
