MAYOR'S MESSAGE

Ashley C. Curry, Vestavia Hills Mayor

To say things have really changed in the last few weeks is an understatement. We are in the midst of an event unprecedented in our lifetimes. I remember the Ebola outbreak in 2014 and the Swine Flu pandemic of 2009, but neither was as globally-widespread or as deadly as COVID-19.

We are continuing to monitor the COVID-19 pandemic through daily updates from county and state health officials and we are following their recommendations, as well as sharing the information with our citizens through our Facebook page and the City website (<https://vhal.org/alert-center>). I hope that by the time this article is published that we will have seen progress in curbing the continued spread of the virus.

In the midst of this pandemic, the City held its first council meeting via online teleconferencing in which participants attended and participated virtually. Participants were able to not only listen, but could also ask questions to council members that were present or who were also attending virtually.

We have been able to continue City services while limiting face-to-face contact for the

CITY MANAGER'S REPORT

Jeff Downes, Vestavia Hills City Manager

In times like those we are experiencing today, it helps to lean on wise words whether they are expressed through our faith, leadership gurus or common wisdom gained by our mentors. For me, three statements rise to the top of my list. One of my faith leaders, Father Frankline Fumokong, always begins his preaching by saying, "God is good all the time" and the congregation replies, "All the time, God is good!" This is a reminder that, regardless of our particular faith, there is a higher power that loves us and will stand by us in good times and bad. Charles Swindoll has been quoted as saying, "We are all faced with a series of great opportunities brilliantly disguised as impossible situations." This reinforces his other messages that relate to attitude being essential to guide us through tough times. Lastly, but not of lesser importance to me, is a common sense message given to me by my high school football coach and mentor, Coach Cliff Little. Coach Little would regularly state, in his very plain ways, "Hey Downes, life is tough!" Only later in my life would I take his statement to heart and realize he was teaching me to keep faith and be resilient as, inevitably, we all face challenges individually and collectively.

The current pandemic is putting stress on all of us. Are we keeping faith, keeping a positive attitude and resiliency? What I have observed in our wonderful community of Vestavia Hills answers this question with a resounding "Yes." Residents are going out of their way to help neighbors in need. We are supporting struggling restaurants and retail establishments with extra curbside visits. Families are spending quality time with one another and refreshing lifelong bonds. These observations give me great hope that our community will be even stronger after the pandemic than before.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

Todd Freeman, Ed.D.,
Vestavia Hills City Schools Superintendent

One of my elective classes in college was sports officiating. My interest in athletics led me to register for it, and it proved to be an invaluable experience. I learned a very important lesson about being an official: you are doing your job best when the players and fans don't know you are there. Thus, it is an important role that requires one to have the confidence to be humble. Put another way, officials are the supporting cast critical to the success of athletic competition.

The change in how Vestavia Hills City Schools has been providing academic instruction this spring brought about the need for our organization to adapt. Our professional educators are on the front line of providing instruction and emotional support to students and parents. They have made a significant shift to a new way of teaching. We are blessed to have talented, creative, and determined educators that have embraced this time not as a challenge, but an opportunity. To succeed in this new endeavor, there had to be a strong support network around them.

Since mid-March, VHCS has had another team of professionals supporting our schools behind the scenes. Our Child Nutrition Program staff prepared breakfast and lunch meals for students to take home during the week. The Technology staff prepared and distributed more than 2,300 Chromebooks to children to use for virtual learning. Staff from the custodial, maintenance, and transportation departments kept buildings and buses clean and disinfected. Secretaries and bookkeepers continued the essential business operation of our system. And paraprofessionals and extended day program managers were actively supporting teachers and the needs of students.

The VHCS support team members are critical to the success of our mission to provide students the opportunity to learn without limits. Not having them supporting our teachers and students through this change would have been like having no officials during the Iron Bowl. They go about their work quietly and often without recognition. They confidently focus on removing limits by making sure students and educators are supported, cared for, and safe.

Throughout the closure of schools, our professional support team demonstrated the same passion and pride in their responsibilities as if our children were in classrooms. It took the expertise of every person in our system to make this spring a success. I am grateful for the invaluable role each of them has served!

protection of all involved. We are hopeful that our offices will be back to normal operation in the very near future.

In closing I would like to share some thoughts that I received from a long-time friend. His message was very appropriate for this time in our lives. He shared this from our American history:

"These are the times that try men's souls." This was written by Thomas Paine in his pamphlet titled The American Crisis. He penned this article in 1775 and it was intended to inspire, motivate and encourage all Americans to not give up! You see, they had entered into a "War of Independence" from England and were losing on all fronts.

The British had them on the run, the Continental Army was suffering one defeat after another, and goods such as food and ammunition were in short supply. If the British won, patriots like Paine would certainly have been hanged for treason.

Our current events are testing men's souls. We are in a battle with an enemy we can't see and the field of conflict is our schools, our markets and our everyday interactions with others. This fight is for the soul of our nation, the health of our nation, the economic livelihood of our country and the welfare of our citizens. I trust that now, just as in 1775, we will find the resolve to persevere.

Many of our residents have shared these same thoughts with me. We all recognize that the rest of the spring will be different in how our children are educated, how we play sports and how we work. Even though we are navigating these changes, we can still sustain our way of life in Vestavia Hills.

As City Manager, I would be remiss if I did not recognize our employees that continue to keep our community safe. Our firefighters, police officers and public works employees continue to bring their top game every day. They are the foundation of services in the City. Additionally, all of our administrative and program-oriented employees quickly adapted in creative ways to adhere to safe business practices while still maintaining a level of normalcy for our residents. Let's keep our chins up and persevere. We are all blessed to be a part of Vestavia Hills. Bless you all!

SENIOR SERVICES

“Being able to help your neighbors, however you can, humbles you and opens your heart to others that need a helping hand.”

We greatly appreciate the impact volunteers have on the community year-round and would like to highlight two volunteer groups whose services are invaluable to our seniors: Meals on Wheels and Senior Transportation.

The Meals on Wheels program provides more than just a meal for many of our seniors – it provides an opportunity for volunteers to provide nutrition as well as social interaction. The daily visit from a friendly volunteer is just as valued as the meal they receive, and program participants are incredibly appreciative. We often hear comments such as:

- “I don’t know what I would do without your help.”
- “Thank you for loving us.”
- “We know you wouldn’t do this if you didn’t care about us.”
- “How wonderful you are and your visit gives me an uplift for the day.”
- “It is amazing to see the smile that greets me when I open my door.”

For volunteers, the experience of giving back and helping another person is just as special. Clare Clements has been volunteering for 25 years and says taking care of our seniors brings her joy. When she began volunteering, her father would accompany her to visit with our homebound. Her children, and now grandchildren, have also joined her. Many generations of kindness flow through Clare and her family.

Janie Vianey says the joy that comes from delivering Meals on Wheels is something that is hard to describe. “My clients are so appreciative of the meals they receive. Seeing each one of them twice a month is such a highlight for me! Being a volunteer for the past 10 years has blessed my life in many ways!”

The Senior Transportation program, which began in July 1985 under the direction of former Mayor Sara Wuska, continues to be essential to our seniors. This service is for ambulatory citizens of Vestavia Hills and it is structured and operated by volunteers through the Vestavia Hills Public Services department. Riders call on Monday to make their reservation(s) for the week – Tuesday and Thursdays are open for medical-related trips, while Wednesdays and Fridays are for errands around Vestavia Hills. Without faithful volunteers this service would not be available for the citizens who depend on it for their well-being. However, it is much more than just a ride to the doctor or a trip to the grocery store. It is conversation and fellowship with a caring individual; it is a physical and emotional support that otherwise would not be available; and it is all because of a VOLUNTEER! Julie Harper was one of the first volunteer drivers for this program. Ms. Harper eventually became an employee of the Vestavia Hills Parks and Recreation Department and continued to be a champion for the program. She recently retired and is once again volunteering as a driver. Thank you, Ms. Harper, for your dedication to the Senior Transportation program from its initial beginnings and beyond!

A special luncheon to honor our volunteers was planned for this month. Recent circumstances required cancellation of the event but can not change the selfless acts of kindness that our volunteers provide. Without falter, our volunteers have continued to provide help and support to the senior adults in our community. Not thinking of themselves, but always willing to serve. So, thank you, volunteers, for all that you continue to do to ensure the seniors in our community are safe and well taken care of!

CHAMBER NEWS

Karen J. Odle, Vestavia Hills Chamber of Commerce President

Why we need to “Support our Local Businesses” NOW more than ever!

Last month was consumed with working with local businesses in figuring out how to cope with the closing of many of our businesses or adjusting to how they can continue to do business in what quickly became the “new normal.” There have been so many factors that have had major impact on our businesses – social distancing, some businesses being deemed ‘essential’ while others are not, no toilet paper on the grocery store shelves (what happened to milk and bread??) and many other things we never thought our ‘advanced’ society would ever have to deal with!

With the unprecedented challenge we have faced, from day one, all I could think about and pray about was “how in the world are these small businesses going to remain viable with having to close their doors either partially or fully?”

My plea to all Vestavia Hills residents is to please make every effort to support these businesses as soon as we are released from the “shelter at home” order. This is their livelihood, the very fabric of our community, that helps provide both financial and community support of what we as citizens value – our educational system, our first responders, our public services, our library and many, many other things that would not be available without a strong economy. If you are wondering what you can do to help, this is the answer! Please support our local businesses! They DO make a difference!

2020 PROJECT REQUEST

CASINO ROYALE WINS BIG!

The Vestavia Hills Library Foundation and Junior Board presented the Casino Royale Fundraising Gala at the Vestavia Hills Library in the Forest on Saturday, March 7, 2020. Nearly 200 guests attended the event benefitting the library’s children’s and teen departments and the VHLF endowment. This marked the sixth year of the event and the first time it was held since 2016.

“The Foundation board was so excited to partner with our Junior Board to bring Casino Royale back to the Library in the Forest,” said VHLF President June Clark, who conceptualized the event in 2012. “It was a tremendous success and everyone had a great time enjoying the fun of Vegas in Vestavia Hills.”

Casino Royale guests entered the library on a red carpet, surrounded by Vegas décor and the music of King Rooster. Bama Casino’s professional dealers led guests in rounds of blackjack, craps, roulette and money wheel games and their roaming photo booth captured shots of guests throughout the evening. The circulation desk was transformed into a bar serving complimentary wine and craft beer donated by International Wines & Craft Beer. The Ridge provided a full spread of delicious food in the library’s community room, where guests also found a wide array of silent auction items donated by generous local businesses. Vestavia Hills Dunkin’ provided complimentary late-night coffee and donut treats for all guests. CBS 42’s Alissa Rothermich served as emcee for the event, thanking sponsors and inviting guests to trade their chips in for prize tickets before announcing the winners. All guests received swag bags as they departed.

“I am truly thankful that the community came together again to support our great library,” said Taneisha Tucker, the Library Director. “The proceeds totaling more than $10,000 will enable us to offer stellar programming to our children and teens along with supporting the Foundation’s goal to establish an endowment that will provide long-term support for the library.”

Thanks to all the organizers, sponsors, auction donors and guests who made the 2020 Casino Royale Fundraising Gala a winning night for everyone involved. Please visit vhlibraryfoundation.org for a full list of sponsors, to see photos from the event and to learn more about VHLF and the Junior Board.

The Vestavia Hills Library Foundation is currently accepting applications for community members to serve on its Board of Directors. Please visit vhlibraryfoundation.org to download and complete an application prior to June 1, 2020. You may also visit the website to make a tax-deductible donation to the Library in the Forest today. Your generous support is greatly appreciated!

As a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Vestavia Hills Fire Department has made changes to its day-to-day operations. Some of these changes include preventing visitations (including our own families) to all fire stations, cancelling CPR classes and monitoring the temperature of our personnel twice per day. These measures may seem extreme, but we want our personnel and citizens to know that we are taking this pandemic seriously.

We are hoping to return to our normal routine as soon as allowed and, in the meantime, respectfully ask for your patience. Through all of the changes to our daily lives, be assured that the goal of the VHFD remains the same – to provide the best service possible while ensuring the health and safety of our personnel and citizens.
