When a high-tech firm requested an exclusive experience in Orlando, we pulled out all stops in creating the ultimate guest experience. The scene was set at an aviation-related attraction that takes visitors back to the pioneering days of early flight. We partnered with fighter pilots and flew in vintage aircraft from Las Vegas for this 24 hour event, designed to simulate a World War I classic air dogfight. After a quick training session, guests took to the air and took over the controls and executed the air-to-air combat tactics that have been developed from the earliest days of the Red Baron. It was truly the ultimate competitive challenge and left guests in awe of the once-in-a-lifetime experience.
