BUSINESS HIGHLIGHT

ANDERSON MARTIAL ARTS AND MARIE'S CUSTOM QUILTING

Dan Anderson and Marie Anderson

What does South Africa, Joe Lewis Eternal Warrior Award and Gresham have in common? The Anderson Family. Dan and Marie Anderson are business owners in downtown Gresham. Each has their own company but shares the responsibilities of the other.

Whether long arm of a quilting machine or strong arm in martial arts, Dan and Marie love what they do, and each have had an impact on the Gresham community.

After 24 years of employment in printing at Fred Meyers, Dan left and started his own company. The road to Anderson Martial Arts was full of purpose. Dan credits what he learned in karate growing up to saving him in Afghanistan. After being a self-proclaimed failure in baseball, Dan sought a new direction. Karate was the answer. Martial arts is personal, a character builder, and teaches self-determination. Dan was a good karate student, obsessed with getting better and went on to be recognized in the hall of fame of martial arts, the Joe Lewis Eternal Warrior Award. His elite career includes Rated in the Top Ten competitors in the US for four consecutive years.

Touching the lives of not only his students but their family members as well, has given Dan enormous amounts of satisfaction and joy. "Unexpected, out of the blue impacts on individuals, lights me up," says Dan. Classes are held for full time clientele, but Anderson specializes in the elite sector of martial art enthusiasts. He holds his students strictly accountable for their behavior during and after class. He also shows, by example, what a marriage and business partnership look like.

Marie Anderson owns Marie's Custom Quilting. In her youth, Marie was a competitive downhill snow ski racer and wanted to be a nun. While she is still competitive and has desires for continual spiritual growth, she and her mother, Nancy, joined hands and started the business together. Turning a hobby into a profit center (without taking the fun away), was easy for Marie. Even the 14-hour days and deadlines requested from customers have not stopped Marie from joyfully coming to work every day. She loves when she can put her artistic juices into use on a quilt. That turns her craft into a work of art.

Marie's quilt shop was closed for many COVID months but not because of the pandemic. Marie was on a sabbatical in South Africa. On a mission from her church, Marie spent months just outside of Johannesburg, touching the lives of those that live there. Their stories and lives had a long-lasting impact on Marie. Marie has the rare quality of being gifted in statistics and art at the same time. Dan credits Marie's quick and accurate financial decision-making skills for the business success they both currently enjoy. Marie loves being self-employed and being her own boss. Running her small business and large quilting equipment is not as easy as some would think. It takes attention to details and strength as well as artistic vision. Her quilts are award-winning. Marie recently won three quilt awards, including first place at the Pacific Northwest Quilt Show. Marie and Dan share the management of their businesses but have defined roles in each company. The defined roles are equally important in their marriage of 27 years as well. For them, that equals a successful work life and a happy married life.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHT

Don and Kelley DeVore

Don DeVore never thought he would own a business. But working for a well-respected national company, managing 750 employees, traveling an average of 3 weeks out of the month, and being away from his high school daughter, Kelsey, and wife Kelley, caused him to change directions. His relationship building opportunities gave him the experience and confidence to start his own company. Sandy River Marketing Inc. was born in 2006 out of Don's desire to control his own destiny. But starting a company from scratch, in an unfamiliar industry, is not always the right path to take. However, DeVore's tenacity, determination, and respecting relationships overcame any lack of confidence he might have initially had. Plus, he had an ace in the hole...his wife. Don continually credits his wife for the business success. Kelley, a registered night nurse, was a hands-on employee early in the company history. Her skill set includes her undying determination that matches Don's. Whether it was making buttons with the old-fashioned button maker in the kitchen (for hours) or working extra shifts at the hospital to make payroll or mortgage payments, Kelley contributed to the growth and success of the marketing company. "Kelley doesn't sell, but she is the glue that often has kept the company together." Knowing what the customer wants and matching that with what they need is key to a successful business. Don and his 9 employees have successfully served their customers through thick and thin. But even with customer success, businesses often face financial disasters. Five years ago, Don found himself and the business in a downward spiral. Investing in new expensive equipment can be a problem. "If you build it, they will come" might work in the movies, but not always in real life.

The financial proposal to fund the equipment was a high risk for the bank. It became a devastating financial time in the business. Don turned to a business owner and friend for help. Trust and relationships can bring aid to the table when other wells have gone dry. The pivotal and potentially devastating moment in Don's business life took a turn to the positive because of a relationship built on trust. The necessary infusion of capital kept the doors open, customers coming, and resulted in opportunities to invest in the community as well as in the company. The path of success continues to bless Sandy River Marketing Inc. Don and Kelley still prioritize time for family and each other. Measurable success is not just the bottom line, the newest client, or overcoming economic roadblocks. Giving back to their long-term employees and the community they live and work in provides unmeasurable personal success.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHT

LA CARETTA, FAMILY BUSINESS ARE BACKBONES OF ECONOMY

Jose and Lisa Estrada

Jose Estrada kept a promise at great personal expense but keeping the promise resulted in a successful business.

Jose, with experience in the restaurant industry, made a promise to his brother that he would help manage the new restaurant his brother was about to open. Jose, wanting to plant roots in California, signed a 6-month lease, intending to immediately move there. But a promise is a promise. He paid off the 6-month lease but never moved into the apartment. Instead, he stayed in Oregon, managed the restaurant and began his 32-year career in the restaurant business.

Not only was he successful at managing the new restaurant, he successfully found the love of his life, Lisa. They've been married for 31 years, together raising a son and daughter together. Lisa, a stay-at-home mom, has been instrumental in managing the finances of La Caretta. Jose admits that managing the restaurant is his domain and the finances are in Lisa's domain. "Our marriage and business partnership really work because I stay out of her management of the books. It works for us to have the separation of responsibilities. We respect each other as a team." Jose owns the property as well as the business on Burnside. Loyal customers and new visitors to Gresham enjoy the family atmosphere and authentic Mexican fare. The restaurant industry is not easy. Long hours, perishable products, customer satisfaction, employee turnover, multiple government agencies and oversight all add up to stressful days and weeks. The joy of being in business and staying in business outweighs any negative. Often Jose works not only long days but weeks without a day off. But family remained a priority to Estrada. As parents raising children, Jose and Lisa prioritized attendance at their children's many functions including many baseball games.

When asked if there was anything he would rather be doing instead of owning La Caretta, Jose just smiled. "I love what I do, even when it is hard." And the community is grateful he has made Gresham home for his successful business. Any owner of a 32-year-old company will have stories of challenging customers, situations, and changes. But equally impactful are the stories that warm the heart. Jose has many of both. He kept his original promise and continues to be a keeper of promises to his family, employees, community, and customers.

ONSEMI: DRIVING THE DIGITAL REVOLUTION FROM OREGON'S HEARTLAND

As one of Gresham's largest companies, onsemi's local plant employs nearly 800 people.

Semiconductors might not be the main topic of conversation at your dinner table, but maybe they should be. Semiconductor 'chips', can be found in practically every electronic device built today – from cell phones to automobiles to communication satellites. Chips built in Gresham at the onsemi fabrication facility are likely present in many of the products you already own. Recently, onsemi produced over 70 billion chips in a single year, with many of these made in Gresham!

To produce Silicon chips needed by different industries and applications, Gresham utilizes cutting-edge design and processing technologies – all starting with a bare Silicon 'wafer' that resembles a thin grey disk about the size of a paper plate. Through a long series of very precise process steps, chips are built into these wafers that have thousands, millions, or even billions of interconnected microscopic individual electronic components. And because these devices are microscopic, the smallest piece of dust or other undesired material will make a chip worthless. For this reason, all Gresham semiconductor processing is performed in a clean room, with cleanliness exceeding the best operating rooms!

onsemi is the leader in many semiconductor categories, but focuses on automotive and industrial end-markets. For example, most automobile back-up cameras are produced with onsemi image sensor chips. The company leads the industry in vehicle electrification and safety, sustainable energy grids (charging stations), industrial automation, and 5G and cloud infrastructure. Electric car owners can thank onsemi for faster, longer lasting batteries and charging stations. Doug Clark is the General Manager of the onsemi Gresham site. He made Oregon his home during his pursuit of an engineering degree at Oregon State University. As the site leader, with over 20 years of experience at the Gresham manufacturing plant, Doug is charged with inspiring employees each day to deliver high-quality and high-value products and services.

As one of Gresham's largest employers, onsemi's Gresham manufacturing plant employs nearly 800 people. To supply those billions of chips the world needs, the plant operates 24 hrs/day, 7 days/week, with infrequent pauses for site maintenance and upgrades.

Gresham is fortunate to have onsemi as part of the community, adding to the already vibrant community we know and love. Let's talk about semiconductors!

OUT AND ABOUT

OUT AND ABOUT WITH COUNCIL PRESIDENT SUE PIAZZA

Lifelong local resident, Sam Barlow High School graduate, business owner, and elected official, Council President Sue Piazza is proud of the city she represents. Here, she shares some of her favorite things about Gresham. Get to know Piazza on a personal level.

Is there a “hidden jewel” in Gresham?

Absolutely, Gresham Historical Museum!

Spare Time?

An unfamiliar term for community advocate Sue Piazza, however in her spare time her baking skills (especially cookies, according to this reporter) are infamous.

Greatest joy?

Without hesitation, FAMILY. That includes all 9 grandkids.

Sue’s best, most impactful time and treasure non-profit:

100+ Women Who Care East County

Favorite places to go?

Historic Downtown Gresham and Italy... in that order.

Don’t get in my way when I...

want to listen to Gresham citizens or when I am watching the grandkids at their sporting events.

Sterling, my cat, and I curl up to read

a good biography or autobiography. I loved Tough Choices by Carly Fiorina.

I have a ball... playing tennis and I’m a big fan of pickleball (on our home court or at the club).

Did I mention?

I love the Szechuan Open Kitchen menu (especially Sesame Beef), the Gresham Arts Festival, traveling (Egypt is still on my bucket list), sharing a meal and playing games with friends.
