Baptist Hospital CVICU Nurse Honored with DAISY Award

PENSACOLA, Fla. (Feb. 25, 2022) – Michelle Gsell, BSN, R.N., who works in the Cardiovascular Intensive Care Unit at Baptist Hospital, has been honored with the DAISY Award for Extraordinary Nurses.

The wife of a critically ill patient nominated Gsell for the honor. “She was so wonderful at explaining procedures and helped me work through some tough decisions I had to make,” the woman wrote in the nomination. “When Michelle was explaining a medical issue to me, she would sometimes draw a picture of the lungs on the dry erase board in the room to help me understand what was going on with my husband.”

The DAISY Award is part of a national merit-based recognition program established by the DAISY Foundation that celebrates the education, training and skill that nurses put into their work every day and, especially, the devoted care they give their patients. Nominations can be submitted by patients, families, physicians and colleagues. Names from nominations are removed so that they are anonymous before being reviewed by a selection committee. One nurse is then chosen as the DAISY Award winner. DAISY Awards are presented on a regular basis, usually monthly or quarterly.

“The DAISY Award serves as another important way for Baptist Health Care to ensure that our nursing team members receive recognition and praise for the remarkable work that they do every day,” said BHC Vice President and System Chief Nursing Officer Cynde Gamache, DBA, R.N., NEA-BC. “We are very appreciative that the DAISY Foundation has created a meaningful award program that honors the tender acts of human compassion that can sometimes go unnoticed but can leave an enduring imprint on the heart and soul of another human being.”
