

2007 Felix A. Anderson Image Award

John (Jack) Hornbach, P.E.
City Engineer, Grand Rapids

Mr. Hornbach has been actively involved in programs and organizations aimed at educating the public about engineering and the positive contributions of the engineering profession.

While acting as the City Engineer for Grand Rapids, he was in charge of several major public works projects including the $100 million expansion and renovation of the wastewater plant and separation of the combined sewer system.

Jack is a past president of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers (MSPE) and also served on the National level as President of the NSPE Practice Division of Professional Engineers in Government.

Additionally, Mr. Hornbach served on the University of Michigan and Grand Valley State University Engineering Advisory Boards, helping to create better engineering programs for students. He also makes presentations to Grand Rapids area schools on a regular basis encouraging students to consider the engineering profession.
