State of Economy Breakfast leaves attendees hopeful

A leading University of Colorado economist was joined by local economic developers to give Chamber members a look at the health of the Colorado economy.

Dr. Richard Wobbekind led a panel that included Aurora Economic Development Vice President Dick Hinson and Centennial's new economic development specialist Corri Spiegel.

They told about 180 people who attended the State of the Economy Breakfast on Feb. 20 that while the State and the Eastern Metro area were not experiencing the kind of high tempo growth it had in years past, the economy was far from failing.

Hinson pointed out that Aurora was well placed to continue to grow steadily especially in the aerospace and medical arenas thanks to Buckley Air Force Base and the activities on the Fitzsimons Campus.

In fact all pointed out that one of the biggest challenges Colorado and the Eastern metro area faced was finding enough qualified workers to fill the jobs that were continuing to expand at firms like Raytheon, Northrop Grumman and the University of Colorado Hospital and Health Sciences Center.

The breakfast, presented by The Chamber and the Aurora Realtors Association was sponsored by 1stBank of Colorado and Pinnacol Assurance.

Dr. Wobbekind, who is Director of the Business Research at the University of Colorado's Leeds School of Business, was optimistic about Colorado's business future telling the crowd that while growth had not continued at the breakneck tempo of a few years ago, the state continued at steady pace in all the leading indicators.

WIB Unsung Heroes Breakfast is "feel good" event

One of The Chamber's newest events will be held on Friday, March 14 at the Doubletree Hotel SE at Iliff & I-225.

The Women Making a Difference Breakfast, sponsored by the Aurora Credit Union Alliance, is a celebration of Unsung Heroes in business and in their community according to Janine Little of Body Beautiful who chairs the Women in Business Committee for The Chamber. "If you want to enjoy a really upbeat, feel good event, this is the one for you," said Little.

In addition to honoring a number of women who have been nominated from throughout the community, the breakfast will feature as guest speaker perhaps one of the most important "behind the scenes" women in the State, Colorado First Lady Jeannie Ritter. "Jeannie Ritter is and inspirational leader who is a perfect fit for this event," said Naomi Colwell who is The Chamber liaison for the Women in Business Committee. "Between an outstanding group of women nominees and First Lady Ritter, this is one gathering you won't want to miss."

Cost for the breakfast is $30 per person or $300 for a table of ten. Call Trisha at 303-344-1500 or go to The Chamber website, www.aurorachamber.org, for details.

As we enter into the second half of the legislative year at the Colorado State Capitol, it's been an interesting year already. The spotlight has been shining bright on our legislators! We normally see good business people kicking and screaming to get their legislation passed, this year it's just a little different. We have already had a legislator kick his way into the front pages of our daily newspapers and one respected member resign over inappropriate behavior.

Even though we have seen some shocking behavior from this year's general assembly, we have seen some promising pro-business legislation taking a hold in 2008.

Business Personal Property Tax Threshold – the object of this bill is to raise the threshold of the business personal property tax exemption from $2,500 up to $7,000 over a 4-year period. By raising the threshold, we will exempt an additional 30,000 small businesses from having to pay and file for this onerous tax.

Bioscience Grant Program – this bill will create a $3.5 million bioscience fund that will provide grants for offices of technology transfer and early stage bioscience companies. This fund is one of many steps our state is taking to continue to build our bioscience sector at the Fitzsimons Campus in Aurora.

President's Letter

Christmas in August – We were hopeful that when House Bill 1271 was introduced this year that the Legislature would step up to create a retail tax suspension in August for low income families as they buy necessities for their children as they go back to school. A number of states around the country have a “tax free holiday” and the results are amazing not only for low income families but for the local retail trade also. Unfortunately, the bill was postponed indefinitely shortly before we went to press.

The Chamber is opposing a number of introduced bills as they are currently written. The following two bills are unfriendly bills to the business community;

House Bill 1141 is a water bill as written is a thinly veiled anti-growth measure that would not allow any municipality, developer or builder to obtain a building permit unless they could prove that they have a renewable water supply for the next 100 years. Hope your crystal ball is as good as these legislators think it is...

Senate Bill 84 has such restrictive terms that nothing could be built in or on the current Lowry Range (land east of the Aurora Reservoir). Even a home owner wanting to add on an outside deck to their home, would not be allowed to. We are opposed to restrictive mandates such as this. The good news is that at press time the bill has been postponed indefinitely.

House Bill 1020 creates a clear disincentive for a plaintiff to accept a reasonable offer of settlement because even a nominal finding in favor of the plaintiff would require that the defense pay all the plaintiff's pre-offer costs. It will discourage the settling of cases, increase the number of cases we have in court and it will increase the litigation costs for all businesses.

Though it seems like the 2008 political season started sometime last year, this is an important year for all of Colorado. The Democratic Convention in August will place a spotlight on Colorado that we have not seen in years past. Colorado's prospects for growth and prosperity could be heavily influenced by the outcomes at the General Assembly this year. All community leaders and business people need to ask our elected officials where they stand on keeping the Colorado economy strong and competitive. The next time you see one of our elected officials at a Chamber event, neighborhood meeting, city event or at the local supermarket, ask them if they want to prevent frivolous lawsuits, new regulation, and big taxes that could cripple our economy even further. Please ask them if they support public schools, support energy and health care reform to make them more affordable. And ask them if they support investments in transportation to ease our congested highways and save lives. Attend one of the numerous events we have this year, like the Legislator's Breakfast at The Medical Center of Aurora on March 17. Get involved, make change —informed change — for the communities we all call home.

DON'T FORGET: “Every employee of a Chamber member is a member of The Chamber”

Please route this issue to your sales reps, account managers, marketing directors, HR and PR departments. You can also access each month's newsletter online at our website, www.aurorachamber.org, so you can forward it to every employee in your company!

Under Barry's leadership, APS has implemented a variety of technology improvements ranging from digital classrooms and chatrooms for staff, students and community to district supported online resource sites, webinars and language training.

Mt. Fuji celebrates first anniversary

One of Aurora's premier sushi and hibachi restaurants, Mt. Fuji, is celebrating their first anniversary according to manager Al Liu. And to celebrate the occasion, the Southlands-based establishment is offering all Chamber members 20 percent off on selected items now through April 10. Check out details in the enclosed flyer or by checking their web site at www.mtfujico.com.

JDRF to Establish an Autoimmunity Center at Barbara Davis Center

Researchers at the Barbara Davis Center for Childhood Diabetes at the University of Colorado Denver in Aurora have new resources in their fight against type 1 diabetes: The Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation has approved funding for the establishment of a JDRF

Autoimmunity Center at the Barbara Davis Center for Childhood Diabetes, only the seventh in the nation. The Autoimmunity Center will receive approximately $1 million a year over the next five years to further fund research leading to a cure for type 1 diabetes.

"We are delighted to establish the JDRF Autoimmunity Center at the Barbara Davis Center," said Teodora Staeva, Ph.D. Program Director, Autoimmunology, at JDRF. "This JDRF Center will focus on developing novel antigen-specific approaches to predict, prevent, and possibly reverse type 1 diabetes."

The JDRF Center brings together a team of basic scientists and clinical researchers, and includes Dr. Hutton, along with George Eisenbarth, MD, PhD; Peter Gottlieb, MD; Howard Davidson, PhD; and Danny Zupris. The Barbara Davis Center for Childhood Diabetes will be the administrative hub of this JDRF Autoimmunity Center.

TMCA to host Breakfast

The Medical Center of Aurora will host the mid-term Legislator's Breakfast on St. Patrick's Day, March 17 at 7:15 a.m. in the Dr. Ed Lord Room of their North Campus facility on Potomac and 6th Avenue. Legislators from the Eastern Metro area have been invited to give their assessment on how things are going at the Capitol at about the midpoint in the 2008 legislative session. The meeting begins at 7:15 a.m. RSVPs are requested to Trisha at 303-344-1500.

Northrop Grumman signs on as AFRL leader

Northrop Grumman of Aurora has stepped forward to serve as lead sponsor for the annual Armed Forces Recognition Luncheon scheduled for May 16. Todd Landgrave, the company's manager of business management and a Director of the Aurora Chamber Board passed the news on to Chamber President Kevin Hougren. "We are delighted that Northrop Grumman is taking the lead in this important event," he said. "I think it indicates their commitment to recognizing especially the young troops that are serving here in the Eastern Metro area."

The luncheon, which will be held in the Holiday Inn DIA, honors all the military but concentrates on the junior enlisted people serving in this area. Full of military ceremony, and hosted by popular KEZW-AM radio personality Rick Crandall, the luncheon begins at 11:30 a.m. and is the only one of its type in the Metro area.

Organized by the Chamber Defense Council's AFRL Committee under the leadership of Suzanne Pitrusu from Wells Fargo Bank, it features awards for the top young enlisted people from the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard as well as their Guard and Reserve components.

Additional sponsorships are still available according to Pitrusu. "This is a great opportunity for the business community to show their support for our military," she said. Information on sponsorship, advertising contributions to the event is available on the Chamber website, www.aurorachamber.org. Costs to attend are $1500 for a Corporate Sponsorship, $500 for a table or $30 per person.

Ribbon Cuttings

Big crowd like big investor – Ev Sequeira cuts the ribbon to celebrate the opening of his new Edward Jones office in the Saint Andrews Village Complex at Yale and Abilene. Sequeira, was joined by friends, family and colleagues for the grand opening that included food and, if you were inclined, plenty of advice on the safe and secure investment opportunities available through the Edward Jones Investments company. Sequeira can be reached at 303-751-1841. You can also check out the website at www.edward-jones.com.

How does this make you feel —
Using scissors instead of his excellent counseling skills, Michael Dawson gets the ribbon to open up in front of his new office at 13791 East Rice Place, Suite 200. Dawson, a professional counselor, as well as an author and speaker offers a wide variety of services. "I've spent most of my life golfing — the rest I've just wasted."

— Author Unknown

Don't miss out on the premiere golf event of the summer! The 10th Annual Leadership Aurora Annual Golf Tournament is set for Thursday, June 19, 2008. We will return to the beautiful and challenging Heritage Eagle Bend Golf & Country Club. Individual player fees are $150 and include cart, green fees, lunch, and a player ditty bag.

We celebrate a decade of success thanks to Rural/Metro Ambulance who has been the event sponsor since its inception. Other sponsors include Adolfson & Peterson Construction, FirstBanks of Aurora, Metro Community Provider Network, and Pinnacol Assurance.

Sponsorship opportunities are still available but going quickly. They range from $200 Fairway sponsor to $2,000 Gold Sponsor that includes golfer fees, signage, promotion and website links.

Please also consider advertising your business by donating items for ditty bags and door prizes. For the ditty bags, small items such as golf balls, tees, pens, and other advertising specialty-type items are requested. At least 160 of each item are needed for the ditty bags.

Larger items such as gift certificates, gift baskets, restaurant dinners, golf shirts, golf bags or clubs, or any non-related golf items will be used as door prizes. It's a great way to market your business!

Go to www.aurorachamber.org to register online for the tournament or e-mail kimberly.curtis@aurorachamber.org for more information.

I-225 FasTracks corridor update meeting set

The I-225 FasTracks corridor planning process continues at a rapid pace. Larry Warner, RTD project manager for the corridor, told the Chamber Transportation Committee on Feb. 6. Warner was joined at the meeting by Mike Turner, RTD project manager for the East Corridor.

The proposed 10.5-mile I-225 light rail extension will run from the existing Nine Mile Station at Parker Road through the Aurora City Center and the Anschutz Medical Campus and Fitzsimons Life Sciences District, to a future station at Peoria Street and Smith Road. RTD is currently refining the corridor light rail alignment and proposed station locations along the corridor.

Warner said RTD will share updated information at two public hearing meetings scheduled for Wednesday, March 12 at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the Summit Conference and Event Center located at 411 Sable Blvd. in Aurora. "We would like to hear what the public has to say regarding the proposed light rail alignment, station locations, and parking," he said, pointing out that the next big step was completion of the Environmental Evaluation. "We anticipate distributing a draft of the I-225 Environmental Evaluation in the fall of 2008 for public review," he concluded.

Not your standard line-up — Sheriff Grayson Robinson, Arapahoe County Commissioner Jim Dyer, and Centennial Mayor Randy Pye are obviously happy about a new intergovernmental agreement they signed recently to ensure that public safety services for the people of Centennial will continue to be provided by the Arapahoe County Sheriff's Office. The 10-year intergovernmental agreement, worth $19.5 million annually, will be in place through December 31, 2018. Under the intergovernmental agreement, the Sheriff's Office will continue to provide Centennial with a full range of public safety services and programs that include patrol services, investigations, school resource officers, traffic education/enforcement, crime mapping, crime prevention, graffiti removal, online registered sex offender information, emergency management, and community emergency response training.

Pinnacol offers convenient and inexpensive safety training

While most employers recognize that safety training is one of the best ways to reduce workplace injuries, they often don't want to interrupt operations by sending employees to classes that take them away from work for an entire day or longer. Pinnacol Assurance has a solution that enables employees to get the training they need anytime – from the comfort of their home or office.

Pinnacol is collaborating with ClickSafety, a nationally recognized provider of online training courses, to offer Online Safety Training for a wide range of industries at drastically reduced rates. To take advantage of these classes, all you need is a computer and Internet access. This training is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

If an employee has to stop in the middle of training, he or she can resume the class at a later date without having to start over again. Comprehension is checked with a test at the end of each course. For scores lower than 100 percent, there is a built-in program review before retesting. And, you can monitor your employees' progress at any time. Best of all, you can sign up one employee or your entire workforce.

For a complete list of courses, visit Pinnacol's Online Training Portal – www.Pinnacol.com – and click on Online Safety Training. If you have questions, contact your Pinnacol marketing representative.

It's Quick and Easy

There are more than 180 self-paced courses from which to choose. The areas in which courses are offered include:

- Safety awareness
- General industry
- Department of Transportation Management
- Certificate or OSHA-authorized courses
- Safety and health fundamentals
- Safety in Spanish

How flexible is your business?

After some rousing successes last year the Aurora Chamber of Commerce has once again been selected as one of only 30 such organizations across the country that can offer employers an opportunity to apply for the prestigious national Alfred P. Sloan Award.

Today and into the near future, workforce retention and recruitment will be perhaps the key issues for human resource managers around the country. "We all know how difficult it is to attract the best talent to our companies and organizations," said Kevin Hougen, Chamber President and CEO who is coordinating the effort in the area. "As an employer, your organization may already be an effective, flexible workplace—and you may not even know it!" he exclaimed.

Hougen said applying for the Alfred P. Sloan Award will "help you evaluate and understand your organization's strengths and challenges. The award will provide the data for you to implement specific strategies to help recruit, develop, and retain talent; have more productive and satisfied employees; and positively affect the bottom line performance of your organization."

He said that applying for the Sloan Awards was fast and easy. "If you think your organization could be characterized as having an effective and flexible workplace – or want to find out – you can self-nominate by filling out the on-line application at www.whenworkworks.org. This application usually takes about 20 minutes to complete," Hougen stated. "If you have any questions please don't hesitate to call me or Stephanie at The Chamber at 303-344-1500."

Last year, The Chamber's "Flex in the City" program had three nationally recognized winners who took away Sloan Awards presented by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. They included Arapahoe/Douglas County Works! and The Medical Center of Aurora.

Annual Awards Banquet theme set

You can almost hear the organ pounding out the theme for this year's Aurora Chamber Awards Banquet—the falling crescendo of "The Phantom of the Opera."

Concentrate more on the "Opera" part than the "Phantom" says Naomi Colwell who helped the committee decide on this year's theme. "We want to create an air of elegance since this is the year's most prestigious event in the Eastern Metro area," she said, "but we also didn't want to lose the mystery part that comes with the anticipation of who will be our award winners."

The special evening, which will honor the best of the best in the Eastern Metro communities, is set for Friday, April 11. Activities begin at 6 p.m. with hors d' oeuvres and the Chamber's famous silent auction. "I think you'll be pleased with all the great things we have lined up for the auction," said Marci Maxwell who coordinates the effort for the Chamber. "Come earlier for the finger food but stay for all the stuff we have available for you at the silent auction." Dinner with fine wine, a program and awards begins at 7:30 p.m.

This year, the banquet returns to the Radisson Hotel SE at I-225 where it has been held for many years. Cost for the elegant "black tie encouraged" evening is $65 per person or $850 for a table of ten. RSVPs are required. For more information call Trisha at 303-344-1500 or go to The Chamber web site, www.aurorachamber.org.
