Chamber names top business and community leaders

In a gala evening featuring a wide array of silent auction items, a spirited live auction and the mystery and glamour that came with a Phantom of the Chamber theme, business and community leaders from throughout the Eastern Metro area came together to honor the best the community had to offer.

The 53rd Annual Aurora Chamber of Commerce Awards Banquet featured the community's best in nine categories. Winners for 2007 were selected by The Chamber for the contributions they made, the business they brought to the Eastern Metro area and the impact they had on the lives of those with whom they have dealt.

Winners included:

Business for the Arts Humanitarian

FirstBank of Aurora
Rev. Robert Galinas,
Colorado Community Church in Aurora

Community Leadership Chamber Leadership Small Business Person

The Rotary Club of Aurora
Jim Suss - Suss Buick, Pontiac, GMC
Lee Cooperman - FastSigns of Aurora

Business Person of the Year Business of the Year

Al Liu - Mt. Fuji Restaurant
Pinnacol Assurance

Man of the Year Woman of the Year

U.S. Congressman Ed Perlmutter
Gayle Jetchick - Havana Business Improvement District

More than 500 people packed the ballroom at the Radisson Hotel SE April 11 to learn the identities of the 2007 winners.

Aurora Chamber Chair Bob Barkè, President of Bar-K Insurance, also took the opportunity to turn over the reins of the Chamber Board of Directors to Jo Snell who named her board for 2008-2009.

The event was sponsored by The Children's Hospital, Lend Lease Properties, FirstBank of Colorado and Pinnacol Assurance. Also contributing to the event were Wells Fargo Banks, University of Phoenix, Merrick & Company, Kaiser Permanente, and Xcel Energy.

Building a vibrant, globally-competitive local economy requires that we build bridges across political, socio-economic, and geographic boundaries in our region. Not only is our economic recruitment of growing businesses at risk, but the retention of major employers in the State will be hurt. The union vs. business battle continues to heat up. Early in April of this year one of the State's largest labor unions (United Food and Commercial Workers Local 7) proposed five new ballot initiatives—all carefully named—to be reviewed and considered for placement on the November ballot. The topics included:

Taxable Value and Taxes of Property, increasing the property taxes of non-residential real property from 29 percent to 34 percent. (#95)

Cost of Living Wage Increase, requiring that all employers provide their employees an annual cost of living wage or salary increase. (#96)

Safe Workplace, allowing an injured employee to pursue action in district court in addition to any rights the employee may have under the workers' compensation system. (Companies would have to purchase another costly insurance policy, we have not found a company that even

President's Letter

2008 — The fight is on

writes a insurance policy for this action yet). (#93)

Offshore Subsidies, prohibits the State from providing tax credits or subsidies to corporations or companies with business operations in Colorado that move any of their operations to locations outside the United States. (#94)

Employer Responsibility for Health Insurance, requires every employer that employs 20 or more employees in the State of Colorado to provide major medical health care coverage to all its employees and their dependents. (#92)

Union representative have admitted that the above mentioned measures were filed in response to a business-backed Right-to-Work initiative, which would prohibit requiring union membership or fees paid to the union as a condition of employment. Backers of the Right-to-Work initiative recently filed 133,000 signatures in an effort to get the measure on the November ballot. That initiative, in turn, was filed in response to last year's Governor vetoed HB 1072, which would have changed how unions can organize in Colorado.

Currently businesses work under the Colorado's Labor Peace Act, a 65-year-old series of laws that governs the way unions can organize workers.

Governor Ritter has offered an incentive for supporters of a right-to-work initiative and a group of labor-backed initiatives to remove their measures from the ballot. In an effort to keep the peace, Ritter has offered to veto any legislation that makes a change to Colorado's existing Labor Peace Act. Negotiations continue behind closed doors, and there is no sign yet whether either of the groups will agree to back off of their initiatives. It certainly appears that the fight is on for this summer and we will be watching it closely here at The Chamber. It is a conflict that is sure to have serious implications for those of us in the Eastern Metro business community. We want to do the right thing for our members so please don't hesitate to e-mail me your thoughts, ideas or concerns at Kevinh@aurorachamber.org.

Many thanks

One last thing, I'd like to thank all of you who helped make this year's Annual Awards Banquet such a huge success, especially the committee that pulled it together and my staff who worked many long hours to make sure all the pieces came together. I think we had a superb selection of winners, people who truly represented a cross section of what makes our community a great place to live and work. And speaking of a great cross section, our sponsors came from all parts of the business community. Without them, we couldn't have made this the memorable event this was. To all of you who participated, thank you!

The Chamber's Mission

The mission of the Aurora Chamber of Commerce is to serve as a voice for the business community, acting as an advocate for its members on issues that affect their growth and long-term economic vitality.

DON'T FORGET: "Every employee of a Chamber member is a member of The Chamber"

Please route this issue to your sales reps, account managers, marketing directors, HR and PR departments. You can also access each month's newsletter online at our website, www.aurorachamber.org, so you can forward it to every employee in your company!

Fellman receives award for championing health

Ken Fellman, of the law firm Kissinger & Fellman, P.C., has received a 2007 Public Health Champion of the Year award. The Jefferson County Department of Health and Environment grants the award to individuals who worked to create a healthier Jefferson County. Fellman, whose law practice focuses on representation of local government, was recognized for his efforts to enhance health and vitality throughout the metro Denver region. His work includes his role as a member of the Metro Denver Health and Wellness Commission, plus initiation and support of a myriad of other health and wellness programs while he was mayor of Arvada.

Rod Bockenfeld appointed to national commission

Arapahoe County Commissioner Rod Bockenfeld recently was appointed to represent the National Association of Counties on the National Performance Management Advisory Commission.

The commission, which includes representatives from several major national associations that represent state and local governments and officials, will create a national principles-based framework for public sector performance measurement and management. The commission will help create a program that includes guidelines, feasibility studies and best practices for governments that want to hold themselves more accountable to their taxpaying public.

Bockenfeld is serving his first term as County Commissioner, representing District 3 which includes part of Aurora, Eastern Centennial, Foxfield and all of eastern Arapahoe County.

Aurora named as finalist for prestigious All America City Award

Aurora has been honored by the National Civic League as one of 17 communities chosen as finalists for the distinguished 2008 All-America City Award. Ten winners will be announced June 6.

"We are extremely proud that the National Civic League has selected the City of Aurora as a finalist for this prestigious award," stated City Manager Ron Miller. "Our citizens represent the finest American attributes of collaboration, resolve and creativity to achieve great results for community betterment."

"The original community award, the All-America City Award, is the 'Oscar' for communities of all sizes," noted National Civic League President Gloria Rubio-Cortes. "It recognizes the efforts of entire communities and exemplifies extensive civic engagement."

Aurora Symphony presents last concert of season

The Aurora Symphony Orchestra will present its last concert of its 30th season at 7:30 p.m. May 10. Featured at the annual Arts for a Better Tomorrow concert, will be Rainer Eudeikis, winner of the ASO's 6th annual Youth Concerto Competition. The performance will be at the Gateway Center for the Performing Arts, located on the campus of Gateway High School at 1300 S. Sable Blvd. Parking is free.

The annual Arts for a Better Tomorrow concert is a centerpiece of the ASO's commitment to developing a lifelong love of music among young musicians in the community and will benefit the Aurora Public Schools Education Foundation.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students and seniors ages 55 and older.

For tickets and more information, call the Aurora Symphony Orchestra box office at 303-873-6622 or visit www.aurosymphphony.org.

Buy a Pin, Support The Children's Hospital

Want to come to work in blue jeans, or perhaps a tuxedo or evening gown?

The Children's Hospital in Aurora is once again engaged in a special fund raising event called "Dress Up/Dress Down Day." "For only $5.00 you can purchase a pin that allows people in participating companies to dress up or dress down when they come to work on May 14," a hospital spokeswoman said. "Businesses can also elect to become a corporate sponsor for $250.00." The money raised will go directly to the Cancer and Blood Disorder Center at Children's.

To be involved in this special event, please contact Meredith Townley at (303) 883-3226 or Judy Dolton at (720) 777-6286. Buttons will also be available at the Aurora Chamber of Commerce. APS Foundation Director featured as prominent Woman in Business

nized Angela M. Thompson (formerly Angela Hutton-Howard), Director of the APS Education Foundation, as one of the Aurora community's prominent "Women in Business."

As part of a special feature section in the March 28 edition, the Aurora Sentinel honored women who are making a difference in the Aurora business community. Thompson was one of twenty women featured for their contributions to business in Aurora. As Executive Director of the Aurora Public Schools Education Foundation (formerly the Aurora Education Foundation), Thompson works tirelessly to "ensure that resources and funding are available to enhance programs and projects offered in the public schools."

Borders boosts Freedom Memorial

"I am very excited to announce that the good people at Borders have stepped up to show their support for the Colorado Freedom Memorial by presenting a two-day fundraiser at all metro Denver Borders stores," said Rick Crandall, Executive Director of CFM. Crandall said that on May 20- 21, Borders will donate 10% of total purchases to the CFM if buyers use a coupon they can download on line or pick up at the Aurora Chamber. "You can use the coupon as many times as you'd like over the two-days," Crandall said, "This could be a huge fundraiser for the CFM."

Coupons can be downloaded from the Colorado Freedom Memorial website, www.cfmf.net.

VA, UCH, UC Denver Partner for New Bed Tower, Expanded Services

A new bed tower and a research tower for Denver-area residents and veterans may result from an expanded partnership involving the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), the University of Colorado Denver and the University of Colorado Hospital (UCH).

The two structures, to be built on University property at the former Fitzsimons Army Medical Center campus, will accompany a state-of-the-art VA Ambulatory Health Care Center, which will also be constructed at that location.

"I'm pleased to move forward with the University of Colorado Denver and University of Colorado Hospital to provide world-class care for veterans," said Dr. James B. Peake, Secretary of Veterans Affairs. "This exciting new plan will bring health care closer to many of the region's veterans."

Red White and Moo, the Arapahoe County Fair Wants You

Arapahoe County is offering an opportunity for you to be a part of the Arapahoe County Fair by advertising your business in their official Fair Program. The Fair Program will be distributed at the Fair to more than 20,000 expected attendees.

Last year's Fair drew high marks from attendees, with 74.3 percent rating the Fair above average or excellent and 89.3 percent indicated the chances were excellent, very good and good that they would do business with a Fair sponsor.

If you would like to advertise in the Fair Program, call Mindy Edstrom at 303-734-5464 to make your reservation now. Reservations must be made by June 9, 2008.

The 2008 Arapahoe County Fair is July 23-27, 2008 at 25690 E. Quincy Ave., in Aurora.

Red White and Moo, the Arapahoe County Fair Wants You to experience fun for the whole family. Our Pay One Price admission is $14 and children 36" and smaller are free. Admission includes parking, carnival rides and all entertainment.

Invitation to celebrate "Connecting Leaders and Community for a Brighter Future"

By Kimberly Curtis

Director, Leadership Aurora

June 5 will mark the end of the 2008 Leadership Aurora class year. Leadership Aurora will hold a celebration reception and formal program for its 23rd graduating class at the Summit Conference & Event Center, 411 Sable Boulevard in Aurora beginning at 5:00 p.m. The program will celebrate the accomplishments of the class and serve to continue the legacy of leadership in Aurora. The event is being sponsored by Aurora Credit Union Alliance, FirstBanks, Kaiser Permanente, Spalding Rehabilitation Hospital and Rural/Metro Ambulance. Mayor Ed Tauer has been invited to present congratulatory remarks to the class.

The 2008 class will leave a lasting legacy through their dedication to Dr. Robin Waterman and the Aurora Community Connection by providing her with assistance in achieving her vision to strengthen, educate and offer capabilities to Aurora families in a new way. The class has already helped her find a building; coordinated a clean-up and move-in day; and assisted in putting together marketing tools and a few are even serving as interim board members. Through their fund-raising efforts to date they have raised approximately $11,000 for the center.

Please help us celebrate this legacy of leadership, by helping to sponsor the event. Sponsor levels include:

$1,000 Legacy Sponsor

- Includes a table of 10 at the evening presentation
- Display your company banner
- Company Logo on the luncheon program and sponsor board
- Recognition from the podium

$500 Celebration Sponsor

- Includes a table of 10 at the evening presentation
- Company Logo on the luncheon program and sponsor board
- Recognition from the podium

Please join us at the Summit Conference & Event Center June 5 for the Graduation Reception/Celebration. Registration begins at 5:00 p.m. and the individual cost per person is $20. Please call Kimberly for reservations or more information at 303-344-1500 or e-mail Kimberly.curtis@aurorachamber.org.

Arapahoe/Douglas Works! relocates to the Denver Tech Center

Arapahoe/Douglas Works! has relocated to Greenwood Village. "This positions the workforce center more centrally to serve Arapahoe and Douglas County job seekers and business," said Joe Barela, Division Manager, and Chamber board member.

The A/D Works! Workforce Center Headquarters, formerly located in Arapahoe County's CentrePoint Plaza in Aurora, and the A/D Works! Littleton location have both moved to the CoBank Center at 5500 S. Quebec Street, just west of I-25 and south of Belleview Avenue. The CoBank Center is a 204,884-square-foot building, of which Arapahoe/Douglas Works! occupies 30,000 square feet on the main level.

According to Barela, the move strategically locates a public workforce center within the dynamic south suburban economic hub, positioning Arapahoe/Douglas Works! as a regional workforce center serving the entire Metro Denver Area. The new location is conveniently located on RTD's Light Rail at the Orchard station.

"The new location will position A/D Works! for future growth and prominence as we continue to successfully maximize the potential of Colorado's workforce," Barela said. For more information about A/D Works! call 303-636-1160 or visit www.adworks.org.

GOLFERS STILL NEEDED

The 10th Annual Leadership Aurora Golf Tournament scheduled for Thursday, June 19, 8:00 a.m. tee-off, at Heritage Eagle Bend

Golf and Country Club still has a few spots available if you hurry! Registrations are going quickly!

We are also in need of donations of ditty bag items. Small items such as golf balls, tees, pens and other advertising specialty-type items are requested. At least 160 of each item are needed for the ditty bags.

We are also asking for larger items such as gift certificates, gift baskets, restaurant dinners, golf shirts, golf bags or any non-related golf items to be used as door prizes. It's a great way to market your business at one of the premiere tournaments of the summer.

Call Kimberly at 303-344-1500 or e-mail kimberly.curtis@aurorachamber.org for more information.

June 5 for the Graduation Reception/Celebration. Registration begins at 5:00 p.m. and the individual cost per person is $20. Please call Kimberly for reservations or more information at 303-344-1500 or e-mail Kimberly.curtis@aurorachamber.org.

Ribbon Cuttings

Ribbon over sign equals grand opening – Elaine Wahrmann, owner and manager of Elements Designer Jewelry prepares to cut the ribbon marking the opening of her new store at 13690 E. Iliff Avenue near I-225. Located in Unit B, the store features a beautiful collection of handcrafted jewelry and accessories and opens just in time for Mother's Day! You can reach Elaine at 303- 671-2717. (Photo courtesy Brian Molitoris, Photographer)

One more time lightly — Dumitri Palea, long time owner of one of Aurora's favorite meeting places, Dumitri's Family Restaurant & Sports Lounge, cuts the ribbon marking the grand re-opening of classic family restaurant after extensive remodeling. One of the early proponents of the Havana Business Improvement District, Dumitri was joined by many of Aurora's leading citizens to mark the occasion including State Representative Nancy Todd, County Commissioner Pat Noonan, City Councilwoman Molly Markert, Aurora Chamber Woman of the Year Gayle Jetchick, and many other long-time friends and business associates including former Mayor Paul Tauer and his wife Kate. Dumitri's is located at the corner of Havana and Jewell. (Chamber photo by George Peck)

Scissors? We got 'em — Kris Kubasta, Store Manager tests some outsized office supplies as he prepares to formally open the Office Depot at Alameda and Chambers in Aurora. Kubasta was joined by Joan Gabrielson, Executive Director of Excelsior Youth Center; Leo Pacheco, President of the Beacon of Hope Outreach Center; Gabriela Perez and Rachel Molnar with Denver Metro Community Parent Resource Center, Inc. who also received contributions from the community-minded company. Applauding their effort that day were Chamber President Kevin Hougen, Kelly Hillier, an Office Depot District Manager; several store associates and a number of Chamber members and Ambassadors. The store, located at 422 S. Chambers can be reached by calling 303- 337-5252. (Photo courtesy Barbara Peck, In You Element Photography)

Under the big red sign – Wielding the giant scissors under the big red Office Depot sign, manager James Orth expresses satisfaction as he opens his new store in Southlands at 23860 E. Orchard Road. Orth was joined by Barbara Grantland, Board Member with The Arc of Aurora; Jayme Harper, Volunteer Recruitment and Training Manager with Advocates for Children/CASA; and Jeneen Klippel-Worden, Director of Development & Public Relations for Gateway Battered Women's Services who all received a generous donation from Office Depot. Also present for the opening was Ward VI City Councilman Bob Broom and Chamber President Kevin Hougen as well as a number of store associates and Chamber Ambassadors. The new store can be reached by calling 303- 766-3133. (Photo by Barbara Peck, In Your Element Photography)
