PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

This time next year I hope I will have seen you at the Biennial meeting in Vancouver, BC. The dates are September 6th thru the 10th 2013. Currently, preparations are underway to make this meeting one of the best ever. Our committee members are planning the doctor's program with special supervision by AngleNW member, Dr Vince Kokich. Local arrangements in this wonderful city are being planned by a Vancouver resident from our component, Dr Robin Jackson. Activities will include wonderful dinners in the area with daytime tours and interesting outings for those who want to partake. Registration will be overseen by our own Dr Terry McDonald. My general meeting chair, to whom I will be ever indebted, is Dr Mike Sheets. We will be at the Fairmont Waterfront Hotel, right on Vancouver's inner bay. Views from the hotel will include blue water, a nearby ring of majestic mountains, big ships and fancy private boats, seaplanes taking off and landing right in front of the hotel and a beautiful, busy city with multi-cultural inhabitants and numerous places of interest. Shopping, sightseeing and enjoying the great restaurants in Vancouver will be yours for the taking. But the best will still be the meeting with all of your Angle friends.

Recently I have had conversations with a few young orthodontists. The story is usually somewhat similar: Competition is acute, practice management issues are increasing. Costs are going up and income is going down. To stay current and be the best with the best office, the best equipment, the best "methods", the best advertising etc, is difficult, to say the least. I have done some thinking about this common issue.

If you go there, it will come...a paraphrase from the Field of Dreams movie. In our case, and the theme I am trying to project here is the following: If you strive to be the best orthodontist you can be and work at doing a great job for your patients, your referring dentists and yourself, success will follow. You, Angle members of my vintage already know this. I believe that all of what we currently hear about competition, insurance payments, third and fourth opinions, increasing costs and pressure on fee increases, more rules and restrictions, etc, etc, etc, can be minimized with attention right at home (your office). And I know we are fatigued by the "all non extraction", the "faster treatment" the "kinder less-painful bio-compatible approach", the earlier, the shorter, the cheaper, the better, etc...But some may hear these things in differing ways than others. We older practitioners may think we have fought the fight and have, for the most part (hopefully), won the battle. We think that we can now continue until the end, to retirement, sale of the practice, easing back on the throttle, cruising along until the boat stops etc. Perhaps we see these "issues" as those just for the younger orthodontist to deal with, the new guy on the block, our eventual replacement etc. Is it true? Is it possible to coast once you near the end of your practice life? Do we have any responsibility to help those still in the fray? What can we do, what can we tell our new colleagues, how can we help? I believe we can give of our wisdom, our skills and our advice. There are a lot of new things that the young orthodontist has to deal with and it seems to keep on coming. And some feel they have to be everything to everybody, with all of the newest equipment and methods plus the best and fanciest office and practice setting....It will be different in one place from another, but even so, how much of it is really necessary? There is certainly a balance that must be struck, but being a "good" orthodontist trumps a lot of the ambient "noise".

I truly believe that doing a good job will help to minimize the problems of today's practice atmosphere. It is what we should be doing anyway and as importantly, it is what we should stand for as EH Angle Society members. ■

THE ANGLE HERITAGE CAMPAIGN UPDATE

The Campaign continues to strive to reach our goal of $2 million in pledges to create an endowment that will provide access to The Angle Orthodontist to anyone seeking orthodontic information, complimentary via our website, thereby, further establishing the Angle Society's role in the support of excellence and leadership in orthodontics. Members are encouraged to donate a case, make a cash donation and set up estate pledges.

We also continue to reach out to the world-wide orthodontic community for support whenever possible. The AHC is in the process of once again applying for the AAOF Center Award for 2013 which supports "the establishment, maintenance and development of special collections of materials and databases pertinent to orthodontics" which directly corresponds with the AHC goals. Also, in an effort to reach across the globe, a pop-up donation request appears on our website, which has over three million hits per year. Our hope is that those accessing the website will help support it and its free access.

If you have not already done so, we encourage you to submit a pledge and/or payment directly to Dr. Phil Campbell at E.H. Angle Education and Research Foundation, Dept. of Orthodontics, Baylor College of Dentistry, 3302 Gaston Ave., Dallas, TX 75246. Or contact him by e-mail at pmc4747@sbcglobal.net. You may also contact your Component AHC Chairperson or Dr. Rick McLaughlin's office at (619) 225-1611 or ljbraces@aol.com for additional information on the Campaign or to make a pledge by phone or e-mail. ### News:

Our President Bill Cole will have the next Angle East meeting in one of America's best all-inclusive resorts, the Mohonk Mountain House located in New Paltz, New York from April 11 – 14, 2013. The Mountain House is a Victorian castle built in 1869 on spectacular cliffs above the deep-blue waters of Lake Mohonk in the heart of upstate New York's scenic Hudson Valley. The area has thousands of acres of pristine forest and winding trails just 90 miles north of New York City.

The Program Chairman and President-Elect Marcy Korn has restructured the presentation format of the next meeting in

New Paltz. The effort will be to create more balance between the academic evidence-based presentations and the clinical ideas employed in orthodontic practice. The academic and clinical track affiliate members must continue to present an academic evidence-based publishable paper whereas all active members have the opportunity to present a clinical paper, case presentation or "pearl". Marcy is attempting to recapture some of the "Old Angle Traditions", those of argument, clinical relevancy and openness to new ideas.

In addition to the Officers of the Executive Committee listed above, Miriam Haisraeli-Shalish is the Chair of the Academic Committee, Dan Tanguay Chair of the Examining Committee, Paul Batastini Chair of the Outreach Committee, Ann Todd Chair of the Bylaws Committee, Don Taylor Chair of the Nominations Committee and Bill Northway for Communications.

Ute Schneider-Moser served this year as President of the Italian Academy of Orthodontics and hosted several Angle East members at the Congress entitled Myths and Realities in Orthodontics. The first session was organized in conjunction with the French Society, Collège Européen Orthodontie held at Forte Village, Sardinia, Italy from June 1–3 where Yves Bolender and Peter Ngan were speakers. The second session was held in Bolzano, Italy from September 27–29 where David Musich, Tom Fischer and Mauro Cozzani were on the program.

News:

Members of the Northwest Component gathered for the summer 2012 meeting on June 1 at the Hotel Bellevue in Bellevue, Washington. The morning scientific session focused on challenges facing orthodontists in managing the transverse plane of space. Dr. Doug Knight opened the meeting with an interesting presentation taking a critical look at arch form and the impact on the buccal corridor. As we all know, there are many myths/opinions regarding the importance of the buccal corridor and the impact of orthodontic treatment. Doug did a great job of combining clinical considerations with a detailed review of what can be learned from pertinent literature.

The remainder of the morning was devoted to "Traversing the Transverse," an excellent presentation by Dr. Don Joondeph. Don identified key transverse treatment dilemmas encountered by every clinical practitioner, and then reviewed what the literature provides in terms of answering these questions. This was a detailed review of all things transverse and was of great relevance to the entire membership.

Our lunch and business meeting gave members a time to catch up with friends and colleagues and to focus on the anticipation of hosting the next Biennial meeting. September 6-10, 2013 will find most of us convening in Vancouver British Columbia for a fantastic Biennial Meeting in one of the world's most beautiful cities. Vancouver, fresh off of hosting the most recent Winter Olympic Games, looks absolutely fabulous and knows how to throw out the welcome mat to visitors from around the globe. In addition, the surrounding Canadian Province contains some of the most spectacular scenery in all of North America. Mark your calendars for September 6-10, 2013, and make your plans now to be with our component in Vancouver, BC. You won't want to miss this meeting.

Scot Burgess, Chair of our Component Study Committee and new board member

Our Component is also examining our current meeting format, how we attract quality driven orthodontists to become new members, and how well our admissions process works from the perspectives of our affiliates. President Iain Allan also took time to recognize three or our long-term influential members who will be honored at the Fall 2013 Pacific Coast Society of Orthodontist's Annual Session:

Dr. Robin Jackson, who will be the 2013 PCSO Annual Session Honoree

Dr. Don Joondeph, who will receive the PCSO Lifetime Achievement Award

Dr. David Turpin, who will be honored by giving the 2013 PCSO President's Lecture

Following the business meeting, our afternoon scientific session got underway with a great presentation by the husband and wife team of Drs. Francine Lo and Robert Elliott. As orthodontists, we frequently face patients who are missing maxillary lateral incisors. When planning for implant replacement of lateral incisor agenesis, retention of adequate space and maintaining root parallelism after orthodontic treatment can be a challenge. Francine and Robert addressed how they manage these difficulties in their practice and described techniques they utilize to regain adequate root parallelism if this becomes a problem during retention.

Program Chair Doug Klein congratulates Doug Knight at the completion of his excellent presentation

The remainder of the day highlighted two scientific studies recently completed by the Northwest Precedent Research Investigations. NW Precedent is a practice-based research collaborative in evidence-based dentistry. Utilizing a network of clinical practitioners across five northwestern states, clinical research questions are identified and investigated. Our final two presenters shared new data from the NW Precedent. Guest speaker Dr. Geoff Greenlee, Director of the UW Graduate Orthodontic Clinic, discussed a TAD utilization study. Dr. Greg Huang concluded the meeting with his analysis of the results of a white spot lesion study. ■

Don Joondeph and Doug Klein following Don's presentation, "Traversing the Transverse." Don was Head of the Department at UW when Doug was a student at University of Washington..

again. However, on the day that gave it the notoriety that's kept it alive, its population stood at more than ten thousand. It was 2pm on October 26, 1881, when Doc Holliday, along with Wyatt Earp and his brothers Virgil and Morgan (who all served as local sheriffs), confronted a band of suspected cattle rustlers, the Clantons, in the legendary Gunfight at the OK Corral.
