SantaCaliGon Days Festival was a BIG hit!

Presented by:

xfinity

The 50th celebration of the SantaCaliGon Days Festival is now in the history books. We had a weekend filled with glorious weather, a fabulous lineup of talented performers, fantastic vendors, delightful dancing performances, competitive contests, and the ever so popular amusement rides at the carnival/midway. We also took time to honor our veterans and those who served our country with a pinning ceremony.

The festival has brought millions of dollars to Independence over the last 50 years. Those dollars have helped raise money for many non-profit and civic groups, sports teams, scouts, and small businesses that give back to the community. Many volunteers of the festival are your neighbors and friends who enrich this community by giving their time and efforts to make this event a huge success and fun family weekend.

This year we brought back the search of the hidden SantaCaliGon medallion, which was another big hit with getting the community involved with the event.

We also hosted the first wedding during the festival, when Troy Kuhnert, a long-time volunteer, married the love of his life Michelle Hawkins, who also performed at the Main Stage Saturday night.

We love hosting this event and we especially love bringing the community together to experience this unique Independence tradition. We hope you enjoyed it too!

THANK YOU

Member Spotlight

Lynne Baker
Business to Education Connector

I held the card in my hand. What a creative, ingenious card designed by Matchstick Websites... with a burned edge! So very clever! The two people behind the brand are just as creative and ingenious as their card. Andrew and Kelly Lightfoot are the technical and creative minds behind this powerful website design company. Kelly brings the creative genius, from her background of graphic design with her company, Ampersand. She received her education in the Commercial Art department, specializing in graphic design, at the University of Central Missouri. In working in the branding and design field with her clients at Ampersand, she realized that they needed websites, as well. Andrew, who was working with a software consulting firm, became an expert in WordPress, which is a somewhat complicated "Lego-type" building system for websites. In 2015, Matchstick Websites was born...a partnership that has embodied many aspects of Andrew and Kelly's life, both professional and personal. The Lightfoot's would be considered the technical and creative "Chip and Joanna Gaines" of the website world.

Kelly was raised in Troy, Missouri and Andrew's home was in Normal, Ill. They were both attending a local Lee's Summit church where they became friends and eventually were married in April 2011. Their professional partnership was established in 2015, when the couple began collaborating with the building of websites. Not only does Matchstick build websites, but they also provide ongoing security and maintenance for their clients...taking the stress away from the clients as they turn their website management over to the capable hands of Andrew and Kelly.

Most of Matchstick's clients are nonprofit and small business organizations. Andrew stated their key to success is to bring their personal touch to others, unlike many of the more commercial website creators, who may be located states away. Andrew related that he gained a new client simply by answering the phone! The client liked hearing a "live" voice on the other end of the line. Most of their clients are in the greater Kansas City area, however, Matchstick Websites also represents companies located in North and South Carolina, Illinois and South Dakota. One of their clients, Brent Wright of LifeNabled, has a nonprofit which creates prosthetics for adults and children in Third World countries. Andrew and Kelly manage over forty different client websites.

Faith has been an essential component of Andrew and Kelly's life journey. They strive to live out the "Golden Rule" in their business and personal lives. "Treat others the way you would like to be treated" is the hallmark of their success. People passing on their satisfaction "by word of mouth" has been a huge part of their business achievements, as well as being active in our Chamber of Commerce. One of the first websites they built was for Stewardship Capital, which led to a growing number of other local websites in Independence, including our own Independence Chamber of Commerce.

For fun, Andrew relaxes by playing several musical instruments and singing. Kelly has developed a new line of jewelry, The Lightfoot Collection. Their daughter, Mae, is six years old and in First Grade. They are thrilled to be able to work and share their business together. Kelly said: "Rough day, we shoulder it together and the good days, we celebrate together". Every year, the Lightfoots do an end-of-year review of their professional life, as well as their personal one. Last year, they were awarded the Non-Profit Connect's Philly Award, Gold in the Website Category for Wonderscope Children's Museum.

The personal touch, taking care of your customers when their needs arise. Kelly and Andrew believe this is the key to their business success. Together, with her creativity and his technical skills, they have built a successful company...entrepreneurs and partners...who live out their belief of serving others!
