

AHRD Global Strategy Statement Policy

This Statement makes explicit the intent of the Academy of Human Resource Development (AHRD) to undertake a systematic global strategy consistent with its mission. The Global Strategy represents a concerted effort for AHRD to promote, support, and develop scholarly research and informed practice related to human resource development. The goals of the Global Strategy are the following:

- A. Provide opportunities for informal and formal information sharing among HRD researchers and practitioners through regional conferences and meetings across the globe.
- B. Develop structures that promote cross-cultural mentoring relationships among senior HRD scholars and emerging scholars.
- C. Develop partnership relationships with kindred global organizations that share the values and mission of AHRD, for the purpose of event planning, publishing, and sharing of resources.
- D. Empower and support AHRD members to collaborate with global partners for conducting research and engaging in projects that provide experiential learning and development.
- E. Foster publication streams that highlight the progress of global HRD research and informed practice.

In summary, the Global Strategy seeks to propel AHRD as a leader, facilitator, and clearinghouse for ensuring an understanding of human resource development among global leaders and promoting the field as a means to address critical issues on a global basis.
