Re: Podiatric Procedures

Dear Ms. Erickson:

This is in response to your letter of June 7, 1988, in which you raised several issues regarding the ordering of anesthesia services from certified registered nurse anesthetists by doctors of podiatric medicine. At issue were some points made in a memorandum to the Board of Podiatric Medicine from Gregory Gorges, its staff counsel, dated November 4, 1987. In the memorandum, Mr. Gorges was commenting on a recently adopted policy position of the Board's Professional Practice Committee.

At issue, essentially, is the statement that a nurse anesthetist may only provide general anesthesia to a podiatric patient in a general acute care facility.

We have reviewed and discussed this matter with the executive officers for the Boards of Registered Nursing and Podiatric Medicine and their respective staff counsels. As a result, we concluded that certified registered nurse anesthetists and podiatrists each have a scope of practice which is not dependent upon the other. Neither the Nurse Anesthetists Act nor the Nursing Practice Act restrict the anesthesia services which may be provided by a nurse anesthetist nor do those acts limit those services to any particular facilities, such as general acute care facilities. In other words, nurse anesthetists may provide the full range of their services in an inpatient or outpatient setting.

I am informed by Carol Sigmann, Executive Officer for the Board of Podiatric Medicine, that the board will reconsider its policy position at its next meeting in the light of this clarification.
