

Financing For Valuable Community Development Projects

The Heritage Bank Community Development Enterprise finances businesses in economically-stressed areas, breathing new life into neglected and underserved low income communities.

Heritage Bank formed its own Community Development Entity (CDE) to expand the financing we bring to businesses in low-income communities in Washington and Oregon. We are one of only a handful of CDEs in both states able to facilitate these loans.

We're using our own capital to make loans to businesses operating in these communities on better rates and terms with more flexibility than the market.

In alignment with our commitment to the communities we serve, we intend these loans to revitalize development by creating jobs and increasing the availability of goods and services in economically distressed areas.

If you're ready to get started or have questions about your eligibility, please contact your relationship manager.

Frequently Asked Questions

How can I determine whether my proposed project meets the criteria for the New Market Tax Credit program?

Confirm that your project falls within an approved geographic area.

Visit novoco.com/resource-centers/new-markets-tax-credits/data-tools/nmtc-mapping-tool to launch the NMTC mapping tool and search for the address of your project location.

Snap a photo of the QR code with your smartphone's camera to quickly access the NMTC mapping tool.

Will at least 25% of the funds be used for building improvements? Because bringing new investments into these communities is a primary goal of this program, at least 25% of the real estate project (excluding land cost) must be for funding new money into improvements. Purchase of existing real estate is eligible if there is funding for tenant improvement or renovations to achieve the 25% minimum.

Is your project primarily commercial? Residential development is not eligible under the program. However, mixed use projects are eligible as long as the majority of the rental income is derived from the commercial tenants.
